OPERATION AWARE

How does Operation Aware work?

As a member agency of Tulsa Area United Way, Operation Aware provides drug and violence prevention education services to meet a critical community need of helping children and teens to be safe, successful, and drug-free.

OA is contracted by individual schools and districts to help meet federal and state guidelines for safe and drug-free schools and to address the needs of their local community. We also provide services in after-school settings as well as presentations for parents, teachers, and civic groups, corporate and community organizations, and events.

Each school year, OA's professional Prevention Educators teach more than 10,000 children in pre-kindergarten through high school in a 9-county area of Northeast Oklahoma.

How is Operation Aware funded?

Schools pay a small discounted fee to bring the programs to their classrooms; however, this fee covers less than one-third of the cost per child.

There is no cost to students or their families to participate. Therefore, OA welcomes the support and involvement of parents and other individuals who care about the health, safety, wellbeing and futures of our community's children.

Gifts from corporate and private foundations, and proceeds from two fundraising events each year are critical to the continuation of our vital prevention education programs.
